Altamira Fine Art Scottsdale is a must-see gallery on Main Street in the Scottsdale Arts District. Specializing in the exhibition and sale of Western contemporary artwork, the gallery offers an active exhibition schedule year-round. Altamira also works with estate collections and offers expertise with auctions, conservation and other curatorial concerns. Altamira is a wonderful resource for design firms and corporate collections. The gallery also buys and consigns quality artwork.

“Scottsdale is in transition,” says Mark D. Tarrant, executive director and owner of Altamira Fine Art. “Several longstanding anchors have closed. We all expected this generational shift, and it is happening very fast. New gallerists are stepping up to take a place in the longest-running art district in the West. The opening of the impressive [Western Spirit: Scottsdale’s] Museum of the West is an important addition to the new identity.”
